Find a World of Knowledge – Teach Abroad!

For an initial review, we will need the following:

- An electronic CV which must contain the following information
 - Your full name, address, phone numbers and date of birth
 - Your Education History (What/Where/When)
 - Your Work History – teaching and non-teaching along with from (month/year) and to (month year), most recent first.
 - You can list your teaching practices as well – where you did them and dates worked if you have less than 10 years experience. List your job titles.
 - If you have worked supply, list the dates you worked supply but also feel free to list any long term work you did (a term or more) at any one school even if it was on supply under this heading.
 - Make sure you point out any accomplishments such as your class having good results on standardised tests, positions of responsibility, levels you taught (A level, GCSE, and what subjects taught).
 - If you have travelled or had date gaps in your CV, list the dates along with why there were gaps.
 - Your Nationality. If you have dual nationality, list that.
 - Your teacher certification number such as DFES number or teacher registration number, if you have one.
- An electronic photograph. A photo of your face from the neck up is fine.
- Information about your personal circumstances – when are you available to go abroad, location preferences (if any), minimum salary requirements, marital status and dependents (note that some countries restrict immigration for unmarried partners)
- Reference details to cover the past 2 years and at least 2 referees. These must be current or former supervisors who have seen you teach. We require the following information: Name, title, school and contact information (preferably school fax/email). If you have written testimonials, provide them as well.

We will also need the following information after our initial review:

- A copy of your passport
- A copy of your teaching certificate and degrees
- A copy of your Criminal Record Check
- National Insurance Number (if you have one) and proof of address such as a utility bill, payslip, etc.

Why do we ask for all of this information?

Different countries, and even different regions within the same country, have different rules than ours regarding teacher certification and immigration. Further, some positions are better suited to teachers with dependants than others.

For instance:

- Some schools cannot sponsor work permits and need EC teachers
- Most International schools want teachers who can raise standards – academic teachers who have experience with planning, preparation, and achieving results in their subject area.
- Some countries have an age restriction for work visas
- Some countries do not allow your place of work to sponsor an unmarried partner
- Some countries do not allow your unmarried partner to live with you
- Some countries require your degree and teacher training to match the specific age range and subject area that you have experience teaching
- Some schools provide shared housing, unsuitable for those with dependents
- Many schools do not provide free schooling for dependent children
- Some schools will consider NQTs but others require 2 years of long-term/permanent experience teaching their subject.
- Schools most often pay in local currency and often the pay reflects the local cost of living. For instance, Thai salaries are low by UK/Irish standards but are very high considering the cost of living in Thailand. However, if you have commitments in your home country such as student loans, this must be taken into account.

Luckily, your Select Education consultant can help advise you on the right position for your individual circumstances.
